Optimism, Just Now, Hampers Giants

National League Champions Appear Confident They Will Show Burst of Speed and Again Secure the Bunting—"Little" Teams Show Great Defence.

By SAM CRANE.

NEW YORK, June 3.—Although occupying the lowly position they are now in, the Giants will have a chance to redeem themselves.

They must get in and hustle and lay away on ice that optimistic feeling that they are bound to get started in plenty of time to make their customary rush pennantward and in the final dash to land the gonfalon.

The Giants are living on what hopes their past record affords to their willing minds. They are trying to make themselves believe that what they have done before they can accomplish again. But baseball has afforded so many instances that the fondest hopes are dead ere they are born that the idea of a comeback will be unless they get the idea out of their minds that all they have to do is wait for the golden shower of victories that is theirs by divine right as two-time champions.

Some Mistake Made Before.

Other champion teams have made the same grievous mistake and did not awaken from their trance until it was too late and then wondered how it all happened and brought up the "alibi" of accidental champions as a reflection on the managers who excuse their own sloveness of perception and lack of foresight.

The Chicago Cubs became too cheery, over confident if you will, and failed to see that they were "going back," but it was plainly evident to others that they were. They were loath to grasp the fact that other teams were being strengthened by young ambitious players who played a faster game than their own veterans, and that rival clubs had profited by the experience they had gained by successive defeats at the hands of the old men.

Wise managers have also profited by the innovations in speedy work and facile plays made by such managers of originality as McGraw, Chance and others, and have built teams that are now better able to cope with the

RACES FOR THE PARK ON JUNE 22 NEXT

A racing tournament with prizes totaling $1000 in the plan that Joe Hyer has on foot for Washington Park for June 22.

He says he has not yet decided upon the complete program, but that it will consist of an entire afternoon of racing, beginning at 1 o'clock, and that there will be a free barbecue dinner at noon and a concert by the militia band in the afternoon if he can secure the band.

The races will include some harness events, a cowboy's relay race with 31 entries, a donkey race for boys 12 years of age and under, a flat running race of half a mile, a two-mile hurdle race with eight hurdles, and a Roman race between soldiers if the latter can be arranged.

Mr. Hyer says he is arranging for excursions on all railroads.

Navin added that he is not considering any other trade with the Chicago club at present.

STOCK TRADERS ARE CAUTIOUS IN DEALS

General List is Slow to Rally From Bear Attack—Pressure is Evident.

NOTE—All market news on prices (unless otherwise specified) Tuesday, June 3.

New York, June 3.—Following yesterday's severe slump the market presented a most cheerful front today. Commission houses reported a better investment demand, although buying of this description was not heavy. Cables from abroad indicated better conditions in Berlin and there was a sharp recovery of Canadian Pacific in London before the close.

London bought extensively of Canadian Pacific and also took some Union Pacific. The action of the market encouraged hope among bull traders that the urgent liquidation under which prices have been breaking badly had ceased.

Purchases, however, were made cautiously in view of the possibility of a bear attack, while Canadian Pacific sold nearly five points above yesterday's low in the afternoon. In other standard stocks did not average more than a point.

Bonds were easy.

Hill stocks lacked support, Northern Pacific falling to the year's lowest. Elsewhere there was a slight recovery of mild pressure, but the list in general acted well.

The general market showed no less resistance to bear pressure as the session lengthened and by mid-afternoon most stocks were rallying at about the lowest. Northern Pacific broke of 2 1/2 to 3 1/2, creating an unfavorable impression and encouraged short selling at other points.

The market closed weak. Failure of dividend paying stocks to resist the intermittent pressure of the bear faction caused renewed liquidation in which a considerable portion of the last week's gains were lost. A new low figure or below. An added factor in the market's depression was the government weekly weather report pointing out the danger to crops in the continued lack of rain in certain sections. New York city 4 1/2 again fell below par.

specific falling to the year's lowest. Elsewhere there were indications of mild pressure, but the list in general acted well.

The general market showed no less reaction. Southern pressure, however, was lengthened and by midafternoon most stocks were ruling at about the lowest. Northern Pacific broke at 10 1/2, a 11% and encountered serious selling at other points.

The market closed weak. Failure of dividend paying stocks to resist the intermittent pressure of the bear factor caused the decline. The factor in which a considerable portion of the list went down to yesterday's new low was caused by the bear factor in the market's depression was the government's weekly weather report pointing out the danger to crops in the continued lack of rain in certain sections. New York city 4 1/4's again fell below par.
